

CONGRESS GETS TO WORK

Reading of Message Signal for Start

PROGRAM MAPPED OUT

Interior Appropriation Bill Comes up Early

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — Congress received President Coolidge's annual message today immediately upon convening and after listening to its reading plunged into the serious work of the session.

With the exception of the two years Woodrow Wilson was ill in the White House this was first time since 1913 that the executive had not delivered his annual communication in person. It was transmitted by messenger and read in the two houses.

COVERED BY HILLS
Congressional leaders generally held out little hope for the translation of many of president's proposals into law before this congress dies on March 4. Their views already have been given to the executive at conferences, the latest of which was held today between the president and Sen. Curtis, of Kansas, the Republican senate leader, and Sen. Pepper, Republican, Pennsylvania.

A number of the proposals advanced by Mr. Coolidge are covered by bills which came over from the last session. There are other pending measures to which the president voiced disapproval, chief among them being Senator La Follette's bill to change the basis of valuation of the railroads.

As the reading went forward there were private conferences on the floor by groups of senators and representatives. Much of the time, however, the lawmakers followed the reading closely, especially that relating to the subjects of taxation, agriculture and music schools.

LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM
Just before the message arrived the house clearing committee had mapped out a legislative program providing for passage by the house before the Christmas recess of at least three of the dozen annual supply bills. Tentative plans of the leaders call for a bill to extend the Christmas week and for a one day layoff at New Year's. Belief was expressed that if this program were adhered to and appropriation bills given right of way through the session all of them will be in the hands of the president before March 4.

The interior department appropriation bill, first of the supply measures to be drafted, was taken up today by the house. Having more or less marked time affixed to the president's message, congress will get down immediately to the serious work of the session. The house will begin consideration of the first of the appropriation bills, that of the interior department, and the senate will give its attention to general legislation pending receipt of that supply measure from the house.

FAVORS UP CALENDAR
With the interior department appropriation bill ready for it, the house passed the usual calendar Wednesday in order to rush that measure. Leaders expect to put the supply bills thru in record time so as to clear the way for later consideration of many subjects pending on to be brought forward at later dates.

With the Republican committee on committees submitting its report on new committee assignments to the Republican senate conference today, it is the expectation that the reorganization of the standing committees will be completed within a week at the latest.

VETERAN BUREAU GIVES INCREASED SERVICE

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The policy of the veterans' bureau in "taking the bureau to the man" thru decentralization of its activities has resulted in greatly increased service in behalf of world war veterans, Director Frank T. Hines declared in his annual report today to congress.

Cooperation with the public, the former service man and veterans' organizations and short cuts in administrative procedure have all worked to extend benefits of hospitalization, rehabilitation and compensation to veterans with greater speed than in the past, the report said.

During the fiscal year ended last June 30 disbursements for all veterans' activities totaled $415,138,398, a decrease of nearly $28,000,000 from the previous year's total, due principally to fewer men requiring vocational training and to administration economies. Compensation disbursements also decreased.

RHEUMATIC PAINS GO QUICKLY WITH ALESSANDRO VOLTA'S DISCOVERY

No Medicines To Take. Results Guaranteed by Local Druggists

An amazing new treatment for Rheumatism has been received in this country from Italy. This new scientific discovery promises to put an end to terrible rheumatic suffering in even the most stubborn cases.

Alessandro Volta, the well-known Italian physicist, for whom the electric volt has been named, discovered a scientific combination of certain ingredients in the form of the powder that is intended to be a powerful and active Uric Acid solvent. This discovery he has called Volta. It is not to be taken internally but is shaken into the shoes or stockings and is intended to be absorbed through the pores of the feet. This absorption is aided by the fact that the sole of the feet contain 10 times the number of pores found in any other part of the body.

So remarkable and rapid have been the results from the use of Volta powder, both in this country and in Italy, that the American distributors have authorized local druggists to dispense Volta with an unqualified guarantee of relief from the use of the very first package or your money will be refunded.

If you suffer from rheumatic pains, Sciatica, Lumbago, Gout or Neuralgia, you owe it to yourself to try this remarkable scientific treatment. It is absolutely harmless and will not cost one cent if you do not receive wonderful relief.

You can get a box of Volta from such good druggists as: Aronson Drug Store, Baldy's Central Drug Store, Entenrie's Drug Store, Green's Public Drug Store, Raymond R. Horn, Hunter's Drug Store, Interurban Drug Store, Marmon Bros. Drug Store, Mykants Drug Store, Vortcamp's Drug Store, Keltner's, etc.

You will have GAS This Winter!

You have had a practical demonstration of this statement during the last few days.

We have been having average winter weather, the coldest official record being 5 degrees above zero. You know what happened two or three years ago when the temperature dropped to this mark; you would have had hardly enough gas to light the burners, much less cook a meal.

The 11,000 housewives in Lima had no trouble preparing their meals yesterday, the day before -- the coldest of the winter -- nor any time during the last year. Barring acts of Providence, they will have no gas shortage this winter or any winter to come, thanks to development in the gas manufacturing business.

A quarter of a million dollars has been expended to make it possible for the WEST OHIO GAS CO. to make this pledge to its customers. A great amount of money has been invested in the property to make possible the pledge that there will never again be a gas shortage in Lima. Money invested by stockholders will be ready to make expansions as they are needed.

Such money must be paid in by those who have faith in Lima. Revenue from service cannot be used for expanding plants; it must be supplied from invested capital.

The money you pay for gas keeps the mill grinding. But those who have provided the mill must keep it up to date and in efficient grinding order. They will.

An interesting history of the gas industry will be printed serially in your newspaper, beginning tomorrow. You will be interested in it.

LIQUOR DEATHS INCREASE

Sanit Holds Over Fermented Beverage Cause

CHICAGO—(By United Press)—Deaths caused by liquor for drinking here have increased 300 per cent in the last three years. Dr. William D. McNally, coroner's chemist, and a member of the faculty of Rush Medical college declared today.

In the period from 1918 to 1920 alcohol was responsible for the death of 80 per cent in every 100,000 population, Dr. McNally reported. Poison, booze has claimed 247 lives in every 100,000 population since that time, he said.

"I believe the increase in deaths is the gradual dissemination of the knowledge of liquor making," Dr. McNally said.

A mouse-like complex or an "alcoholic psychosis" has replaced delirium tremens, as the direct cause of a majority of liquor deaths according to the chemist. He attributed the new illness to the use of over fermented liquor.

STORE OPENING IS SUCCESS

Remodeled Leader-bldg Visited by Thousands

Opening of the new Leader Store Tuesday night was one of the most successful ever held by any Lima mercantile institution. During the entire evening the store was crowded with men, women and children and everything was carried thru according to schedule.

Carnations were the favor given out by the management and the official welcome was given by Gus Holstine, owner, and Sylvan Holstine, the general manager. All department managers welcomed visitors to the various sections of the store and told of the many changes made.

Of special interest to those attending the opening were the beauty parlors and the children's playground on the third floor, the gift shop on the second floor and the new drapery, rug and lamp arrangement of the fourth floor.

This is the floor recently added to the building.

Following the remodeling operations the Leader Store is one of the most modern in the city and includes among its many departments practically every one to be found in a metropolitan establishment. A tea shoppe is another convenience that may be installed in the near future, Sylvan Holstine has announced.

YOUTHS CONFESS TO ATTACKS ON WOMEN

CHICAGO—Eight youths of from 14 to 27 years were arrested last night in connection with a recent series of attacks on women. Partial confessions were obtained, the police said.

In each case the woman was kidnapped after her escort had been slugged. One of the victims, Mrs. Frances Palermo, married by her fiancé the day after the attack, died three weeks later. The band was responsible for more than 100 robberies since July, Joseph Savage, assistant prosecutor said. He attributed to their actions the fatal shooting, Saturday of Policeman Porras, member of a detective bureau squad fired upon by Hugh Stewart, bank cashier, when the officers sought to question him. Stewart testified he mistook the automobile load of officers for the band of attackers and shot when he was halted.

STATE TAKES PRECEDENT OVER CITY HOME RULE

COLUMBUS, O.—Supreme court has held that the provisions of the state law take precedence over the provisions of the charter of a home rule city in regard to special assessments for public improvements.

This principle was ruled in a case of the city solicitor of Youngstown against the finance director of that city.

Whether this decision forecasts the decision in the pending cases in which the question of whether the state Freeman-Collister motor bus law is higher than local bus regulations is not known.

DEMOCRATS FILE

National Committee Spends 903,908 in Campaign

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press)—Campaign contributions totalling $845,520 were received by the Democratic national committee from July 1 to Nov. 20, inclusive, in addition to a loan of $120,000, according to a report filed with the clerk of the house, which placed expenditures during that period at $967,908. The loan was made by the New York Trust Company and was counted among the committee's assets in computing a balance of $61,612.

The report, filed yesterday, showed the major portion of both collections and expenditures was made at the New York national headquarters, the figures there being given as $786,122.73 and $833,452.98, respectively. The balance of receipts and disbursements was divided between the Washington and Chicago headquarters.

Of the total contributions $635,902 was received in amounts of more than $100. The largest single contribution $50,000, was made by John D. Ryan, of New York, in two installments, of $25,000 and one of $5,000.

ENGLAND-RUSSIA LEFT OUT

Pan European Plan Omits Two Countries

INTERESTS ARE VARIED

Scheme Held Frankly Critical to League

BERLIN — (By Associated Press) — Pan-European suggestions are constantly bubbling up all over Europe, but nearly all the men and women who want Europe to federate and become a sort of United States of Europe have yet schemes as to the exact way the federation should be effected.

Count Coudenhove-Kalergi, the Austrian publicist who has recently attracted much attention by his writings on the subject of Pan-European and was a speaker in the recent session of the International Peace Conference in Berlin, does not think that England and Russia can be members of a successful Pan-European organization.

His scheme for pacifying Europe is quite unlike that of the late Sir Max Waechter, who recently died in London. He was known for years as the old man who never failed to talk with kings and politicians throughout Europe about the advisability of abolishing customs barriers in Europe and federating all European states, much after the manner the United States is federated, with an international police force to keep order instead of competitive armies which were keeping their nation poor.

Count Coudenhove-Kalergi thinks the interests of Europe are too varied for all nations to be brought together. He regards the British Empire as a group which must stand quite alone because of its ramifications and power. Russia is another widely spread empire which he believes must stand alone. So his Pan-European would be Europe without the British Isles and Russia.

HOSTILE TO PLAN
League of Nations advocates are especially hostile to the Coudenhove-Kalergi plan, which is frankly critical of the League of Nations on the ground that it is too much centralized to be operated with success. It is the idea of Coudenhove-Kalergi that the various groups or sections into which he would divide the world could cooperate and maintain much better relations by standing alone than if they were all consolidated in one group.

Eastern Asia, that is Japan and China, would be a separate group under the Coudenhove-Kalergi scheme.

Regime Of Smoky Hobbs Reaches End

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press) — Once a factor in politics, his influence sought by city and county candidates alike, Alexander (Smoky) Hobbs, one of the best known negro characters in central Ohio, today is "down on his luck" and has appealed to authorities for internment as cook at the county infirmary.

But "Smoky" must first serve out a fine for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. He was hauled into court Monday charged with intoxication. His case was postponed until Tuesday, but "Smoky" was still drunk. Today he was fined $100 and costs.

About 10 years ago, "Smoky" conducted one of the best "Darktown" restaurants in the negro district and came out the hero of many cutting scraps. He was once convicted for shooting at a detective and served a term in the Ohio penitentiary. He also served a term in federal prison at Atlanta for violation of a federal statute during the war. But "Smoky" is not a bad man. He was once a good cook. "If you'll get me a job as cook, I'll go to the county infirmary," he told Judge Berry, after apologizing for appearing twice in court in a drunken state.

WEMBLEY WAITRESSES GO TO PRIVATE HOMES

LONDON — When the British Empire exhibition at Wembley closed its gates recently, it was announced that 17,403,119 persons had visited this empire jubilee since its opening last May.

The closing has, at least temporarily, solved the domestic servant problem of London by throwing out of work some 2,000 waitresses. The girls have been unable to find employment in the city restaurants and in most cases have been sent to private homes.

HELP KIDNEYS BY DRINKING MORE WATER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Help Neutralize Irritating Acids

Kidney and bladder irritations often result from acidity, says a noted authority. The kidneys help filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may remain to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Begin drinking lots of soft water, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast. Continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in your system so they no longer are a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs, which then act normal again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by acid irritation. Jad Salts causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink which may quickly relieve your bladder irritation. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. Adv

"Rain"
It takes an unusually good dramatic offering to win the approval of both the critics and the audience. Such a play will be seen at the Faurot opera house in "Rain," to be seen Thursday, Friday and Saturday night.
"Rain" was not only warmly approved by the critics but it created a real sensation among those who viewed it while it was playing in New York City. For two years it was one of the leading Broadway successes. On its road tour it has been creating the same impression it did while in New York.

Reports from cities where this production has appeared show that "Rain" is a human play, depicting life as it is without any glamour or falseness. Yet, at the same time, there is a dramatic sequence that makes it a real success.

At the Sigma
Beautiful, broke, but brave—that's the position the heroine of a picture is sure to find most appealing to her audience—and that's exactly the way Viola Dana carries off in her latest Metro picture, "Along Came Ruth," which opens Wednesday at the Sigma theatre.

The story centers around Ruth Lawrence, a pretty girl, who has failed as a commercial artist, but is broke but with a defiant tilt to her chin. "Ruth" comes out for her board to the owner of a down-at-the-heels furniture store for a week. From that moment on, action begins to brew up to its name and fairly sings with her activities. She converts the dusty old store into a modern, thriving establishment and pays off her employer's debts.

Every unmarried man in town falls in love with her, but she picks out the struggling lawyer of her employer. Then just to show the richest man in Astoria that she does care for him; even though she won't marry him, she has him elected mayor.

An excellent cast of players was selected to support the star in her latest picture. Raymond McKee is the good-looking leading man and Tully Marshall has the part of the proprietor of the furniture store who grows to hate Ruth the more she does for him. Walter Hiles, Victor Potel and Gale Henry handle other principal roles.

"Cuddle Up"
A special feature night has been arranged at the New Orpheum theatre for Wednesday. It will be "Blond Night," a weekly special that has attracted special attention among patrons of the theatre. "Cuddle Up," the musical comedy attraction for the week will be the main presentation.

Beginning next Sunday matinee "Bunsin' Around" will be offered. This company was here last year and will be remembered for the opening bill, it is announced. With the organization this year will be seen Max Golden, Albert Taylor, Alan McDonald, Doc Dorman, Marvel Shactleton, Norma Fair, Dorothy Bates, Bart Stanley, Paul Taylor, Bobby Golden, Snyder and Ramsey and others included the members of the "Bobbed Lock Chorus."

Hearing on the benefits and damages on the Rudy-rd in Perry-up was resumed before the county commissioners Wednesday.

lowers again—and Pater- son put them up. Corrigan relieved him of his weapon. Followed climbed into the room, breathing heavily. The sight of the girl he had once kissed shocked him. "Corrigan," he cried reproach- fully, "what on earth does it all mean? They might have killed you!" "Oh! but I knew you'd be there," returned Corrigan, still with that exasperating grin. "But it's preposterous! I might have slept!" Corrigan came toward him and placed a heavy hand on his shoulder. "You were feeling rather sick with yourself this afternoon. You were getting a notion into your head that I wouldn't trust you—after that!" He nodded toward the girl. "I knew I could rely on you, old son. I wasn't taking any risk at all, you see. I knew you'd be there!" A mist swam before the assist- ant's eyes. "But it's wonderful!" he blurted out. "I only knew wonderful people about me," laughed Corrigan. "and we'll leave it at that!"

An Intimate Story of Innermost Emotions Revealed in Private Letters

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO THE LITTLE MAR-QUISE, CARE OF THE SE-CRET DRAWER, CON-TINUED

I am really glad, however, little Marquise, that I can now write Jack all about the shop in a letter instead of telling him about it. When he gets that gray look upon his face and his mouth settles into a thin red line,
I am always frightened.

Jack told me in his last letter that it was the first one he had written in his own hand in a long time and I know you will be surprised when I tell you that it was only the second letter he has ever written to me that was not dictated. I was so happy when I saw his writing for I think the letter would have lost all sweetness had I known it was dictated to Sally Atherton. I would much rather if such a letter had been dictated it would be given to a stranger. I don't know why this is so for I am sure that Sally is my friend and likes me very much. But that letter was something too intimate to be sent thru consciousness of another person, especially one who knows us both well.

Soon, little Marquise, your home—the Secret Drawer—will be changed again. The beautiful old desk that was given to you by your lover, the king, will have a place in my own little sitting room over here in smoky old Pittsburg amid the grime of the steel plants of the great industry of which you must have known nothing.

In this old house which until I have made it over would have probably hurt your artistic soul, you will be enshrined to sleep and dream, it amid the noise of a new world, a newer generation, and a newest mode of living, you can dream.

I shall probably not write you again until with all my other Lares and Penates your beautiful desk with the secret drawer again in my possession. It will seem like an old friend.

I am going to stop writing you now and begin that letter to Jack. Like the boy in the story,
"Gosh, how I dread it!"

LESLIE.

Letter From Leslie Prescott
to John Alden Prescott

First, dearest man, I want to tell you how happy your letter made me. Whenever you write me letters full of love as the last one was I would not change places with any woman on earth. A queen's crown would be poor indeed.

Please do not smile, Jack dear,
and say that is some of Leslie's extravagance, for it is exactly what I feel and perhaps I am like you in a measure. I cannot say these things in all their poignant truth.

He saw them pause outside Cor-rigan's broad, squat house, and sat down in the shadow of the bank, watching them. His quick brain keenly alert, noticed two things that set him wondering.
The watchman whose duty it was to patrol outside—was not at his post. Had followed him home—had disappeared. The two dark forms had gained the veranda, and Fellowes, every nerve strained, reached the black patch of darkness thrown by one of the walls, and crouched stealthily around the building, his head just above the level of the veranda floor. Presently he had swung into the veranda itself. He passed cautiously into the room Corrigan employed as his office.

Suddenly a bright light flashed
in the gloom, he caught the outline of a stoneware form, and saw a woman's hand of incredible smallness passing with rapid,
precise movements over the combination.

A second figure came to her side, as the porcelaine glinted
in cold streams from his forehead.
A man's finger passed a bunch of keys into the circle of light—and were gone again, leaving it in the woman's possession. Fellowes saw her select a key, insert it noiselessly—and the door swung open on oiled hinges.

And then—he was blinking furiously into a room flooded with yellow light.

Immense, immense in a carousel of tawny, coral and red, set the lamp deliberately on the table and looked down the blue barrel of Paterston's revolver.

"You may shoot, Fellowes," he said calmly.

"Put 'em up, both of you,"
called the first assistant from the window, his automatic leveled.

"Up with 'em!" shouted Fel-
